Invest for Tomorrow. Live for Today.™

Looking forward to joining Neil Cavuto on Fox Business at 1:25 pm today, Monday. We will be discussing if stocks have gone too far too fast and about to plummet thousands of points. I think you know my answer already, but it should make for a lively chat!

Last week, I did two segments with Laura Hutchinson from WTNH (ABC in CT) on my top financial resolutions for 2018. I still need to write these up into a special report which will include all of them. You can find the clips below.

The bulls continue to rule the roost in the stock market and have done nothing wrong to indicate otherwise. While trees don't grow to the sky, this market is doing its best to debunk that as myth. We all know that sooner or later, stocks will correct and given the large numbers on the indices, the weakness will look a whole lot worse than it really is.

For now, all five major stock market indices are in gear to the upside and appear to be entering a trading range with 2-3% on the downside and 2% on the upside. Sector leadership has been strong and powerful from my four "key" sectors, banks, transports, semis and discretionary. High yield bonds, while not knowing the cover off the ball, are not behaving poorly.

The bull market may be old and wrinkly, but it's not dead. Weakness should continue to be bought until proven otherwise. Bonds are not acting like the "safe" haven or alternative to stocks and the defensive groups like REITs and utilities are really under pressure.

Two good topics for upcoming blog posts will be on how an eventual peak may look like as well as what's going on in the bond market. This is not the same bond market which rewarded smart and dumb money for the past 35 years.

Important Disclosure Information

Heritage Capital LLC ("Heritage") composite performance results represent time-weighted actual performance results for continuously managed Heritage accounts, which individual accounts Heritage believes to be representative of its investment management process (i.e. mutual funds and exchange traded funds) for each specific strategy during the corresponding time period. The composite performance results reflect the reinvestment of dividends and other account earnings, and are net of applicable account transaction and custodial charges, and the separate fees assessed directly by each unaffiliated mutual fund and exchange traded fund holding that comprised each account, and the maximum investment advisory fee that the accounts would have incurred (by applying the Heritage's current investment advisory fee of 2.00% as set forth in its current written disclosure statement) during the corresponding time periods.

Please Note: Past performance may not be indicative of future results. Therefore, no current or prospective client should assume that future performance will be profitable, equal the performance results reflected, or equal any corresponding historical benchmark index. The historical index performance results for all historical benchmark indices do not reflect the deduction of transaction and custodial charges, or the deduction of an investment management fee, the incurrence of which would have the effect of decreasing indicated historical performance results. The historical performance results for all indices are provided exclusively for comparison purposes only, so as to provide general comparative information to assist an individual client or prospective client in determining whether the performance of a Heritage program meets, or continues to meet, his/her investment objective(s). A corresponding description of each index is available from Heritage upon request. It should not be assumed that Heritage account holdings will correspond directly to any such comparative benchmark index. The Heritage performance results do not reflect the impact of taxes.

For reasons including variances in the investment management fee incurred, market fluctuation, the date on which a client engaged Heritage's investment management services, and any account contributions or withdrawals, the performance of a specific Heritage client's account may have varied substantially from the indicated portfolio performance results.

In the event that there has been a change in a client's investment objectives or financial situation, he/she/it is encouraged to advise Heritage immediately. Different types of investments and/or investment strategies involve varying levels of risk, and there can be no assurance that any specific investment or investment strategy (including the investments purchased and/or investment strategies devised or undertaken by Heritage) will be profitable.

Information pertaining to Heritage's advisory operations, services, and fees is set forth in Heritage's current disclosure statement, a copy of which is available from Heritage upon request. Performance results have been compiled solely by Heritage, are unaudited, and have not been independently verified. Heritage maintains all information supporting the performance results in accordance with regulatory requirements.
